(Case called)

MR. LOCKARD: Your Honor, Michael Lockard and Ryan Poscablo, for the government.

MR. ZELIN: Good afternoon, your Honors. My name is Randy Zelin. I represent Brandon Lisi.

THE DEFENDANT: Good morning, your Honor.

JUDGE BUCHWALD: I guess the first order of business might be the government's letter of December 11. Mr. Zelin, I assume by now you've received this.

MR. ZELIN: I received it about ten seconds ago, your Honor.

JUDGE BUCHWALD: Do you want to take a few minutes to peruse it?

MR. ZELIN: Thank you, your Honor.

JUDGE BUCHWALD: Let the record reflect that Judge Swain and I also received a letter from Mr. Zelin yesterday, dated December 11, with an attachment of a letter from Sloan-Kettering and the advice from NorthShore-LIJ that Mr. Brandon Lisi had been in the office of Dr. Tenet, on December 10, where he had a stress test and an echocardiogram. Mr. Zelin.

MR. ZELIN: If your Honors please, I have had the opportunity to take a look at the government's December 12 letter, and I respectfully submit I'm going to need time to review this letter in great detail. This is the first I'm

CccWlisC

1 hearing of this. I had no prior notice whatsoever that the 2 government had any issue with my client relative to his 3 release, let alone allegations of a nature where the government 4 would be seeking to revoke his bond. Therefore, I would 5 respectfully request that we adjourn today to give me an ample 6 opportunity to review the allegations, to meet with my client, 7 and to make a determination, both internally and along with the 8 government, with regard to a hearing with regard to these 9 allegations.

10 I would respectfully submit to both of your Honors 11 that my client has been on release now for the better part of 12 three years. Not only has he made every court appearance when 13 required, your Honors will recall back in April of 2012, he 14 brought his mother with him on a stretcher because your Honors 15 ordered my client to appear, and, as the Courts know, my 16 client's mother suffered a stroke back in February, and he 17 right now is her sole caregiver.

18 Unfortunately, what made it easier for my client to be 19 here today is the fact that Mrs. Lisi is currently hospitalized
20 at Glen Cove Hospital. She is not in good condition 21 whatsoever, but from the standpoint of the Courts having any 22 concern whatsoever that my client is a flight risk as a result
23 of these allegation, again, your Honors, I would respectfully 24 submit that notwithstanding the latitude the Courts have 25 granted the defense with regard to adjournments, when required

CccWlisC

1 to appear, my client appeared.

2 My client was here early today, as we had been told to 3 be here early today, prior to noon, for this appearance. My 4 client is on the verge of having suffered an asthma attack
5 because he couldn't drive in so he walked from Chambers Street, 6 got off at the two and three and walked here to make sure that 7 he got here on time. There is nothing before the Courts where 8 your Honors should have any concern whatsoever that my client
9 is going to flee the jurisdiction.

10 With regard to the allegations, again, I have only had 11 an opportunity to scan the government's letter. But to the 12 extent that the government is taking the position that my 13 client poses some kind of economic danger, since there's 14 nothing before the Courts to suggest that my client is a danger 15 to anyone in the community, I would respectfully submit that, 16 first of all, with regard to at least some of the allegations 17 that talk about my client having practiced law outside the 18 scope of what he was allowed to practice before he was no 19 longer a lawyer, my client has not been a lawyer now for the 20 better part of eight months. So these allegations are at least 21 eight months old, if not older.

22 With regard to the additional allegations concerning 23 monies loaned and some notion about a half a million dollars, 24 your Honors, there was an extensive litigation that took place
25 in the Supreme Court of Nassau County before the Honorable

CccWlisC

1 Timothy Driscoll. I appeared in those matters as Mr. Lisi's
2 criminal counsel. And not once during those proceedings before 3 Justice Driscoll was there any allegation, during those 4 proceedings at any time on the record before Justice Driscoll, 5 that my client had engaged in any kind of fraud whatsoever. In 6 fact, there was extensive litigation concerning the foreclosure 7 of one of the properties that is listed in the government's 8 allegation, and we raised an allegation or raised the issue of 9 whether or not the foreclosure was commercially reasonable.
10 And one of the things that Justice Driscoll was particularly 11 concerned about was since Justice Driscoll was a former federal 12 prosecutor himself, and I argued that it was very important 13 that the foreclosure be commercially reasonable, and there was 14 even an instance where there were negotiations to purchase the 15 property for full value, so this way there would be no loss.

16 JUDGE BUCHWALD: First of all, which property are you 17 speaking of?

18 MR. ZELIN: 53-55 Main Street in Cold Spring Harbor or 19 51-55 Main Street in Cold Spring Harbor.

20 JUDGE BUCHWALD: What was the nature of the 21 litigation?

22 MR. ZELIN: The nature of the litigation, as I recall, 23 at least one aspect of it was whether or not the property
24 should go to a foreclosure sale or whether or not the property 25 should be purchased by a third party.

CccWlisC

1 I was involved in those proceedings because I was very 2 concerned that the property be sold at its highest value 3 because that would factor in to the loss calculations for 4 purposes of sentencing here, whether by virtue of a plea 5 agreement or a conviction after trial, if my client were 6 convicted at any level.

7 JUDGE SWAIN: I have a question, for clarification.

8 I thought you had said that you were involved in this 9 proceeding with Justice Driscoll as his criminal counsel, which 10 raised in my mind a question of what type of proceeding it was.
11 So are you saying that this was a foreclosure proceeding in 12 which you became involved in your capacity as Mr. Lisi's 13 defense attorney for this case because of concerns about 14 restitution, and so forth? Or was that thing in the Supreme 15 Court proceeding a criminal proceeding?

16 MR. ZELIN: It was the former, your Honor. This was a 17 Nassau County civil Supreme Court matter.

18 As I recall, there was an application for a stay of 19 the foreclosure proceeding on the 51 through 55 Main Street, 20 Cold Spring Harbor premises. That matter ended up before 21 Justice Driscoll. I appeared as Mr. Lisi's criminal counsel 22 for purposes of ensuring that to the extent that the 23 foreclosure sale was going to go through or to the extent that 24 a sale of the premises could be negotiated, that I was aware 25 that the property would be sold at its highest value, solely to

CccWlisC

1 ensure that for either loss calculations, for purposes of the 2 fraud guidelines and/or for purposes of restitution, that the 3 highest possible value for those premises be realized.

4 My appearance had nothing to do with any allegations
5 of new criminal conduct on the part of my client.

6 JUDGE SWAIN: Are you representing that the person
7 described as the victim/complainant in the government's letter 8 was also active in that Nassau County litigation regarding the 9 Cold Spring Harbor property? You seem to be saying this never 10 came up in that litigation. But was that person involved in 11 that litigation?

12 MR. ZELIN: Let me just make sure that I understand
13 which person we are actually talking about, if your Honor 14 please.

15 JUDGE SWAIN: The victim.

16 MR. ZELIN: As I recall, Paul Katsaros was involved in 17 that litigation. In fact, I think he was the plaintiff in the 18 litigation, and he was the one who had brought an action to 19 stay the foreclosure proceeding. As I recall, and again, this 20 is my recollection, Mr. Katsaros was interested in purchasing 21 the property.

22 JUDGE SWAIN: Was a widow who was supposedly a silent 23 and involuntary investor in this property involved in that 24 litigation?

25 MR. ZELIN: Not to my knowledge.

CccWlisC

1 JUDGE SWAIN: Thank you.

2 MR. ZELIN: Just a point of clarification. It may be 3 that she was, but I don't know the woman's name. I have never 4 met the woman. She was not, as I recall, a party in that 5 litigation.

6 JUDGE SWAIN: Thank you.

7 Mr. Lockard.

8 MR. LOCKARD: I thought it might be helpful for the 9 Courts for me to provide some background on some of the 10 litigations Mr. Zelin is describing because there has been a 11 lot of litigation both prior to and following Mr. Lisi's 12 indictment and arrest in this case, and all those proceedings
13 in fact are very much related to our contention about the risk 14 of harm that Mr. Lisi poses to the community and to other 15 individuals.

16 In the big picture, Mr. Lisi and his coconspirators, 17 who are charged in Suffolk County -- that's where the Cold
18 Spring Harbor property was at issue, in the Suffolk County
19 case -- obtained a million-dollar-plus mortgage from Washington
20 Mutual through the type of fraud that's discussed in our letter 21 to the Courts. As is discussed in some of the proceedings in 22 the various litigations that spun out of that, that mortgage 23 was applied for by a company called Clear Blue Water, which is 24 a company that was formed by Mr. Lisi, but whose nominal owners 25 were his codefendants in Suffolk County, Melissa Lanzilotta,

CccWlisC

1 who owned the title company, and Jason Higgins, who was an 2 alias of Mr. Lisi's, essentially a stolen identity.

3 The mortgage on that property went in default within a 4 few months of the closing. Washington Mutual and its successor
5 in interest, J.P. Morgan Chase, initiated a foreclosure action 6 in Suffolk County, the first litigation, and that mortgage was 7 later acquired by a company called Oyster Bay, which continued
8 the foreclosure action. There have since then been three 9 separate litigations, the common thread to which has always 10 been Mr. Lisi.

11 The first was a bankruptcy in the Eastern District of 12 New York where the individual that Mr. Zelin mentioned, Paul 13 Katsaros, filed a bankruptcy on behalf of Clear Blue Water, 14 claiming that he had acquired that company from Mr. Lisi in 15 satisfaction of an approximately hundred-thousand-dollar debt.
16 Mr. Katsaros was deposed in that action, and we can provide 17 that deposition to the Courts, but I submit, in sum and 18 substance, it shows that Mr. Katsaros was not able to describe 19 in any detail the nature of the debt, when he provided that 20 money to Mr. Lisi, under what circumstances, or what the source 21 of the funds was. He knew very little about the property. He 22 knew very little about Clear Blue Water. He knew very little 23 about the tenants that were supposed to have occupied that 24 property. In sum and substance, Mr. Katsaros appeared to have 25 been a nominal owner of Clear Blue Water.

CccWlisC

1 He filed the bankruptcy for the sole purpose of 2 staying a foreclosure sale that was imminent in the Suffolk
3 County proceedings. That bankruptcy action was dismissed.

4 Shortly after that, Clear Blue Water, again, through 5 Mr. Katsaros, filed a declaratory judgment action in Nassau
6 County, again seeking a stay of the foreclosure action, again 7 with Mr. Lisi's involvement. That action ultimately was also 8 dismissed.

9 Having failed to stop the foreclosure sale with 10 Mr. Katsaros, that's the introduction of NKL Enterprises, the 11 entity that's discussed in our letter, and the victim, 12 individual one, and his wife are also discussed in our letter.
13 Again, the victim, as described in our letter, was essentially 14 recruited by Mr. Lisi and another attorney to make these 15 investments, to buy a mortgage, a second mortgage on the 16 property in Cold Spring Harbor, to use that to obtain title to 17 the property through deed in lieu of foreclosure, to file 18 another bankruptcy action, to seek to stay a foreclosure sale, 19 a bankruptcy that was filed on the morning of the scheduled 20 auction, and that bankruptcy was also dismissed.

21 Money from the second entity, NKL Enterprises, has 22 been used to pay the attorney's fees for Clear Blue Water. It 23 has been used to pay money for unknown purposes to the attorney 24 that Mr. Lisi has worked with, and it's clear throughout this 25 that Mr. Lisi has, in essence, been seeking to continue to

CccWlisC

1 exercise control over that property without having his name on 2 the title and without having his own money at stake. So the 3 litigations that Mr. Zelin is describing, far from 4 demonstrating some sort of compliance with the law, go directly 5 to the type of economic harm that we're concerned about:
6 Misrepresentations to the courts about the true economic 7 interest and the true ownership of the property; active efforts 8 to misrepresent Mr. Lisi's involvement; tying up not only the 9 courts' resources in at least three different jurisdictions, 10 also delaying the foreclosure sale to the harm of the mortgage 11 lender who is seeking to foreclose; and, finally, the harm to 12 the victim discussed in our letter whose money was used by 13 Mr. Lisi for these purposes.

14 JUDGE SWAIN: Perhaps at this point, Mr. Lockard, you 15 should be clear about the precise nature of your application 16 today.

17 MR. LOCKARD: Our application today is to revoke 18 Mr. Lisi's bail so that he may be remanded pending trial. We 19 think it's clear that throughout his extensive course of 20 conduct while on supervised release that there is no way to 21 mitigate the risk of harm he poses to the community. He has 22 managed, through at least Mr. Katsaros and the victim in NKL 23 Enterprises, to continue to seek to exercise influence over the 24 properties that he obtained through fraud, to exercise 25 influence over vulnerable individuals to provide him with

CccWlisC

1 access to funds, to engage in personal financial transactions 2 with individuals who understood him to represent them as an 3 attorney, to divert funds, to do this under the cover of a law
4 firm, to do it in concert with other individuals, and, in sum, 5 there are no conditions that can adequately protect the 6 community from Mr. Lisi's ongoing conduct.

7 MR. ZELIN: If your Honors please, again, I appeared 8 as Mr. Lisi's criminal counsel in the Nassau County proceeding
9 before Justice Driscoll. That was litigated extensively over 10 many, many, many months. Each of the parties in that 11 litigation was represented by counsel. There was no one at any 12 time, to my knowledge, who appeared pro se. There was no one 13 at any time who appeared before Justice Driscoll in his 14 courtroom, made any allegations of any fraudulent conduct 15 whatsoever.

16 The litigation before Justice Driscoll was over 17 whether or not the foreclosure proceeding of 51 through 55 Main 18 Street should go forward. As I recall, Justice Driscoll had 19 signed a temporary restraining order. That temporary 20 restraining order remained in effect for many, many months 21 while the parties attempted to negotiate a sale of the 22 premises. As I recall, part of the way the deal was 23 structured -- and again, I was not civil counsel, so I was not 24 involved in the negotiations. There was separate counsel for 25 all of the parties, including for Mr. Lisi. Mr. Lisi had civil

CccWlisC

1 counsel representing him in those matters.

2 As I recall, where the government speaks of 3 Mr. Katsaros being a nominal defendant, what I recall is that 4 Mr. Katsaros was attempting to purchase the shares in Clear
5 Blue Water, so it was supposed to be the sale of the shares so 6 he would then become the principal of Clear Blue Water rather 7 than purchasing assets. In other words, your Honor, I think 8 what I'm trying to say is that with regard to these allegations
9 that have been brought to my attention now for the first time 10 by the government, there was an extensively litigated civil 11 component to that matter, and I don't know what is motivating 12 people to come forward now. I don't know if it's a matter of 13 dissatisfaction with what happened to their investment. I'm 14 not privy to any of that. But it's unfortunate that what may 15 otherwise appear to be legitimate business transactions 16 suddenly becomes criminalized, and since my client is on 17 release right now, it's a very scary proposition to walk into a 18 courtroom and suddenly find out that after three years of 19 compliance with the terms of his release that the government is 20 now moving for a remand.

21 What I would respectfully submit is that we adjourn 22 today, that I be given an opportunity to properly review and 23 assess the allegations that have been brought by the 24 government, adequately prepare to defend this hearing, and,
25 quite frankly, your Honor, there are a number of allegations

CccWlisC

1 which involve other attorneys. I don't believe that I am any 2 one of those attorneys that are named, but I think I have a 3 responsibility to determine, and it's something that I would 4 hope that the government would share with me because the 5 attorneys are given the monikers attorney one, and a number of 6 people involved, their names are not disclosed. And I think it 7 would be critical for us to determine, since we're dealing with 8 members of the bar, who these other attorneys are, and these 9 other attorneys may need to come before the Courts to be heard.
10 I don't know. But I'm seeing a lot of allegations for the 11 first time, and I'm simply requesting an opportunity to prepare 12 and to be able to defend these allegations.

13 JUDGE BUCHWALD: All right. Judge Swain and I have 14 conferred, and while we're not inclined at this moment to grant 15 the government's application to remand Mr. Lisi into custody, 16 we do think that there is sufficient concern so that we are 17 going to place Mr. Lisi on home confinement with electronic 18 monitoring. We understand that Mr. Lisi has obligations to his 19 mother and that he has health issues, although they're hardly 20 documented, and so our intent is that home confinement take 21 into consideration those two problems, obviously, with notice 22 to his pretrial officer, Mr. Rothman, who is here in court at 23 our request. He is certainly free to go to medical 24 appointments. He is certainly free to visit his mother while 25 she's in the hospital. If there is an emergency medical

CccWlisC

1 situation with his mother, he should call his pretrial officer.
2 He's allowed to deal with it; he's not supposed to wait to get 3 the okay to deal with the emergency, if it means he has to 4 leave the house. He'll have to explain it afterwards.

5 MR. ZELIN: Thank you.

6 JUDGE BUCHWALD: He should try, but if he can't reach 7 Mr. Rothman, he's not supposed to keep his mother waiting for 8 the okay.

9 There is going to be a requirement that he document to 10 his pretrial officer any appointments that he is going to, that 11 he's taking his mother to, and he can work out with his 12 pretrial officer some capacity to leave the house for a short 13 period of time every other day or something for the purposes of 14 doing things like buying food.

15 As Judge Swain reminds me, of course, the same rules
16 apply to appointments with counsel. But his pretrial officer 17 needs to know about them in advance and there should be 18 confirmation of them. I assume an e-mail from you would be 19 sufficient.

20 MR. ZELIN: Yes, your Honor.

21 JUDGE BUCHWALD: The other thing, of course, the topic
22 that we had on the table many months ago, concerned 23 Mr. Lisi's --

24 I'm sorry.

25 MR. POSCABLO: Your Honor, before we get off topic, I

CccWlisC

1 apologize, one other thing, if the Court would consider 2 directing Mr. Lisi not to have any contact with victim one,
3 with the victim that's outlined. If they don't know who that 4 person is, we can inform Mr. Zelin who that individual is, but 5 we would hope that the defendant would not have any contact 6 with that individual.

7 JUDGE BUCHWALD: I think that's for her benefit and 8 for his benefit, and it's so ordered.

9 As I was saying, the topic that had been on the table 10 now some months ago was setting a trial date and the assertion 11 by Mr. Lisi that he was not physically capable of going to 12 trial. It was certainly, I think, the express view of both 13 judges that based on the hearing we had that he was capable, 14 and Mr. Lisi was given some opportunity, now for a number of 15 months, I don't remember the date of the last hearing, to try 16 to dissuade us of that conclusion. It's clear that nothing has 17 been presented.

18 My case is the one with the lower number, and at this 19 point I think we do need to set a trial date. I am proposing 20 June 11, which, even assuming there are some medical issues, is 21 more than enough time to resolve them. I think it is truly 22 time to resolve this case and the one in front of Judge Swain.
23 But, as I say, I have the lower number, and if it can't be 24 resolved some other way, it really does just need to be tried.
25 We're at the point where everybody else in my case has pled.

CccWlisC

1 Most people, if not all, have been sentenced. The case is an 2 '09 docket number and we're about to hit 2013.

3 I hear nothing. It's amazing.

4 MR. LOCKARD: June 11 works for the government, your 5 Honor.

6 MR. ZELIN: June 11 it is, your Honor.

7 JUDGE BUCHWALD: All right. I assume there is no
8 objection to excluding the speedy trial time until then.

9 MR. ZELIN: No, your Honor.

10 JUDGE BUCHWALD: All right.

11 Mr. Zelin, do you anticipate any in limine motions in 12 this case?

13 MR. ZELIN: Your Honor, what I would respectfully 14 suggest is, given the fact that we now have a trial date and 15 there is some uncertainty in terms of the future of the case, 16 what I'd like to do is have an opportunity to confer with the 17 government. It's been some time since we've actually focused 18 in on the discovery and focused in on any appropriate motions.
19 I will confer with the government and just kind of now go back 20 into that mode, so if I could have an opportunity to first --

21 JUDGE BUCHWALD: Let me give you a month to get back 22 to me --

23 MR. ZELIN: Yes, your Honor.

24 JUDGE BUCHWALD: -- with what you propose.

25 MR. ZELIN: Yes, your Honor.

CccWlisC

1 JUDGE BUCHWALD: At that time, I will set a date for 2 motions and pretrial submissions.

3 MR. ZELIN: Thank you.

4 JUDGE SWAIN: I would also just like to have a 5 conference date in my case on my calendar closer to your trial 6 date so that we can see how that is progressing.

7 MR. ZELIN: Yes, your Honor.

8 JUDGE SWAIN: And so if you give me a moment, I am
9 proposing Friday, the 17th of May, at three in the afternoon.

10 MR. ZELIN: Yes, your Honor.

11 JUDGE SWAIN: Does that work for the government as 12 well?

13 MR. POSCABLO: It does, of course, your Honor.

14 JUDGE SWAIN: May 17, 2013, at 3:00, in my courtroom.

15 MR. POSCABLO: The government asks to exclude the time
16 in the case before your Honor from now until then as well.

17 MR. ZELIN: No objection.

18 JUDGE SWAIN: That application for exclusion is 19 granted. I make the finding pursuant to (7)(A) of 3161(h).

20 MR. ZELIN: Thank you, your Honor.

21 JUDGE BUCHWALD: Mr. Zelin, you and Mr. Lisi should 22 confer with Mr. Rothman about the home confinement conditions 23 and getting an electronic bracelet.

24 MR. ZELIN: Yes, your Honor.

25 (Proceedings adjourned)
